Courageous Conversations at Elm Ridge Methodist Church, Darlington. Sat 18th May 2.00 - 4.30 pm. (Coffee from 1.30pm) An opportunity to explore issues connected to marriage and relationships, will be held over the next year. The Methodist Church will be reflecting on the contradictory convictions we hold about the nature of marriage and, in particular, whether our understanding of marriage should evolve to include same sex couples too.

The aim of the afternoon is to create a safe space at which to look, respectfully, at different viewpoints through the lenses of what the bible says, what the church understands by marriage, our common sense and individual stories and testimony. Courageous Conversations aims to support conversations in local churches and circuits which take place in the autumn following discussions at the Methodist Conference.
